Changes to Magazine Subscriptions

Based on recent changes to funding guidance and the availability of eMagazines through the Army General Library Program online service Zinio, print magazine subscriptions at Army Europe Libraries will not be renewed for FY14. Current subscriptions are expiring now or will be expired by January. Please check with local garrison library staff about access to the Zinio digital magazine service, which currently provides access to 468 titles, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week from home, at work, at the library, or even on the go. Many popular titles that are currently held by your library are in the collection. There are no waiting lists, customers can view back issues, and there are no digital issues to return. The online subscription through Zinio provides instant access. Some of the titles not available through Zinio can be accessed through the online databases available at the library.

Customers who have existing library accounts can sign up for a Zinio account through the Army Europe Libraries web site. Those without MyAccount can visit their local garrison library to setup a library account or get more information about this eMagazine service.
